Seymour College is proud to present:

Indigenous Art within the Australian Curriculum

A workshop by Dr Christine Nicholls

Monday 17 June & Tuesday 18 June
9:00am to 3:00pm

Seymour College
Reception Room, Barr Smith House
546 Portrush Road, Glen Osmond 5064

Cost: $35.00
Lunch and morning tea provided

Dr Christine Nicholls, a SALA Board Member, is the Postgraduate Co-ordinator, Humanities at Flinders University and is currently contributing to the Australian Visual Arts Curriculum. This two day workshop will explore the role of Indigenous Art in relation to the national curriculum in Visual Arts as well as offering insights into aspects of Indigenous culture and how Indigenous art can be taught in the classroom in an inclusive and culturally sensitive manner.

Day One:
- An Introduction to Traditional Indigenous Australian Art: origins, diversity, and the relationship of the visual art to land and religion.
- Distinctive Regional Styles, Iconographic and Visual Conventions: with particular reference to the Central and Western Desert Visual Art; Arnhem Land.

Day Two:
- Towards an Understanding of Indigenous Copyright Law and its Relationship to Traditional Indigenous Visual Imagery.

For further information please contact: Shannon Warren on 8303 9000 or email: swarren@seymour.sa.edu.au
To book your place on the workshop, please go to: www.trybooking.com/51281